PROF. PECK'S IDEAS OF THE NEW WOMAN

Prof. Peck, a few years ago, wrote an essay on the modern woman in which, among other things, he said:

"Against the twentieth century new woman every man should set his face like film. She is striving for economic independence, and her advanced theories have always borne some fruit in the marked distaste for marrying that is growing among men. The cause for this distaste does not lie in man's heartlessness, nor yet in his profigacy, but in the fanaticism and unwisdom of the modern woman."

New York, Sept. 4.-Friends in New York learned to-day for the first time. brough dispatches at nouncing that Mrs ornelia Dawbarn Peck had been divorced at Sloux Falls from Harry Thurston Peck, professor of Latin in Columbia Uni versity, that the domestic troubles of th uple began fourteen years ago, and
